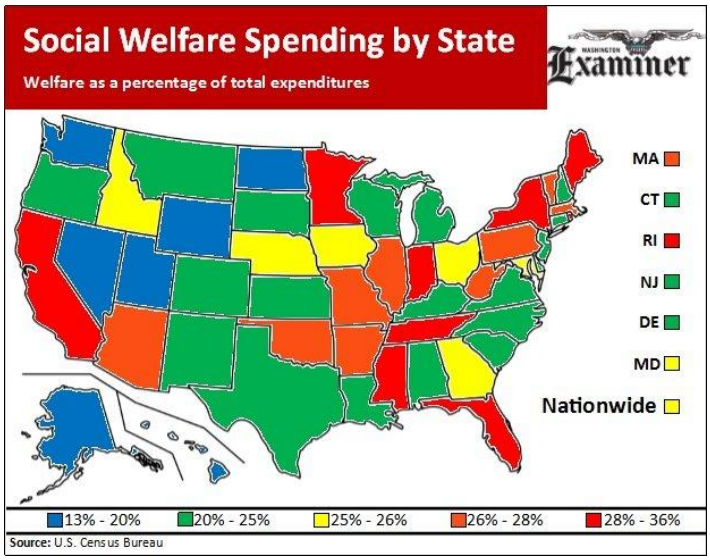
STATE WELFARE:
How much does your state dole out?

February 13, 2015 – The Washington Examiner published an article titled, "How much does your state spend on welfare?"



Attached to the article was their graphic showing the amount of tax payer's money that was doled out as Welfare spending. Eight states are shown spending 28%-36% of their budget on freebie handouts.

The Examiner states, "Nationwide, state governments collectively spend $2 trillion, with $520 billion of that going toward welfare programs, or just under 26 percent. Education is the highest category of state government spending, with 30 percent of state government spending nationwide."

"In July of 2005, the U.S. Border Patrol Local 2544 stated on their website that "There are currently 15 to 20 million illegal aliens in this country by many estimates, but the real numbers could be much higher and the numbers increase every day because our borders are not secure..." That was 10 years ago. The American Resistance Party estimates there are now 30 to 40 million illegal aliens in the United States currently. All states will soon be forced to dole out more welfare to these illegal aliens as well as the U.S. citizens that are currently on the dole.
