SOETORO'S INTERNET GIVEAWAY: Great Problems Foretold

Oct 7, 2016 – Statement of EDWARD C NOONAN, 2016 Presidential Candidate:

Lea2319@aol.com emails the following report:

Problems that will most likely arise from the transfer of the Internet. SOON.

1. Loss or decreased ability to access conservative, independent news media sites.
2. Censorship of postings and comments for the aforementioned sites.
3. Problems with e-mails and e-mail delivery
4. Slowdown and/or delay of Internet service.
5. An exponential increase in "trolls" and other disparaging, "nonproductive" commenters on sites.
6. Inability or difficulty making purchases online, for varying articles of equipment or preparation (such as night-vision devices, adaptors, anything firearm related, and literature pertaining to prepping, survival, or current events perspectives from a non-globalist perspective.
7. Complete monitoring of all personal business and private communications.
8. Problems with personal finances: shopping, bank accounts, checking, bill payments, and anything in these categories that is done via the Internet.

Now let's examine some of the problems that will affect us as individuals from a national perspective:

1. National Defense: Ever since GridEx 2014 in Hawaii where we allowed the Russians and the Chinese to participate in drills with the United States military, we have been at much greater risk. The Russians and Chinese now know (courtesy of Obama) our vulnerabilities regarding our electrical power infrastructure, as well as how an EMP (Electromagnetic Pulse) would affect them. Chinese hackers can now access our computer systems and no longer have to hack: The Internet has been handed to them.
2. Shipping: all critical transportation systems for food, medicine, and other important necessities now have their inventories and shipping at the mercy of ICANN.
3. Finance: it will now be a simple matter to either access or crash bank accounts, IRA's, pensions, and business venues (such as Wall Street, the FDIC, and the Federal Reserve) can easily be shut down with the flip of a switch.
4. Censorship: all of the countries mentioned will have a say in what is permitted, and they are not "icons" of freedom of speech in their own nations. They have long desired to see censorship imposed on the U.S. Such will mean the loss of or the rendering as ineffective the independent and conservative news venues.
5. Monitoring: monitoring us and all of our activities – and this has military applications for those nations, as intelligence is gathered upon the economic, social, and political actions of another nation.
