Hi Kelly

I've been following info on the Oroville Dam 'problem' for some time, via a man by the name of Paul Preston being interviewed fairly regularly on The Common Sense Show of host Dave Hodges, and it doesn't sound good, and I see by the map that you are fairly directly in the line of a wave of water towards Sacramento if that earthen dam goes, under the pressure of the spring runoff, from now through June. I don't know what you have been made aware of regarding this potential disaster, but I encourage you to check it out, and be ready to get out of that area at a moment's notice. Obviously to head out towards the east, and keeping above the traffic of people getting out of the Sacramento area to their east. Plot out an escape route ahead of time, including back roads, to avoid the potential traffic jam.

This is serious business. The public isn't being informed of the degree of seriousness that it requires, for the obvious reason of keeping panic down to a minimum. (There are other factors going on here as well, of a political nature; but let that subject go for now.) But forewarned is forearmed.

Check out the past audios that thecommonsenseshow.com has carried on this subject, to get up to speed on the situation. You owe it to yourself to be prepared. A word of advice, from an old Boy Scout, your

My response to a Commenter at <http://www.mercurynews.com/2017/03/11/oroville-dam-photos-taken-weeks-before-spillway-broke-show-something-wrong/>

To Commenter:

I am impressed with your knowledge, but not impressed with your conclusion. You say, "The emergency spillway performed exactly as designed..." It is my opinion this "performance" was/is unacceptable, dangerous, stupid, idiotic, and the entire dam & spillways needs to be undone and re-designed. Any technology of the 1970's are ancient/old and hand-me-downs of yesteryear. If you don't believe it, I have an old broken typewriter or record player I'll sell ya. Let's see how easy it will be to find parts for it and repair it! There is a difference between craving an old majestic Oroville Victorian mansion to be a long lived landmark, but praising the Oroville's wall of crumbling DAM cement that are holding back your "5.9 trillion pounds of water" is illogical. Your logic that even though both spillways crumbled and destroyed everything around them, the dam itself is hunky-dory-safe is iffy at best. This sort of blind trust will never stand the test of time! The dam's demise is next... it's coming, we just don't know when!
